Your Tasks

The Head of Paid Media will work with senior management and cross functional teams to lead the strategic development of media campaigns and define the most effective, efficient, and innovative approaches to managing media buys. This leadership position will report to the Director of Digital Marketing, and will manage agencies and an internal team.

- An experienced, confident and forward thinking media professional to lead investment in paid media planning and buying
- Proficiency in media negotiations, media campaign design and planning, reporting, and in the data science required to build and present plans and their performance
- Championing new, bold, and game-changing ideas and processes that will create real business change

Key Responsibilities:

- Managing a team of Paid Media experts
- Managing large-scale media investments across all media channels with high level of expertise
- Maintaining deep knowledge of media and marketing data and application to deliver positive ROAS
- Ensuring the media department is providing ongoing education on industry trends, tools, and case study
- Facilitating the growth of team members with special projects as needed or requested
- Managing custom research as needed to uncover consumer desires, target behaviours and unique media opportunities
- Working collaboratively with a marketing analyst and analytics team to break down media results, turn data into insights and merchandise the learnings across brands and departments
- Being a leader; effectively managing a team, building an efficient planning and reporting process, and facilitating positive relationships across the organization
- Negotiating all media including upfront commitments, agency contracts, and partnership terms
- Contributing to the PLAION environment of collaboration, team work and long-term loyalty

Your Profile

- 7+ years' experience managing paid media campaigns
- Experience in leading and empowering a team
- Experience across the breadth of social media and other marketing channels: Facebook,
